

A Garden of Questions to Ask

Before the clinical trial ends...

Plant the seeds for fruitful discussions with the Principal Investigator & clinical research staff before the clinical study ends.

Some questions to ask include:

Will the results of the trial be shared with me and if yes, how?

If I (or my child) have received investigational medication during the study that has helped, is there a way I (or my child) can stay on this treatment after the clinical trial ends?

How can I learn about any follow up studies?

How will my (or my child's) care be transitioned after the trial ends?

Learn about other questions to ask here.

www.ciscrp.org

