Independent
Nonprofit

Worldwide
Experience

Informing patients and families about clinical research

The Center for Information and Study on Clinical Research Participation, Inc.'s (CISCRP) core mission is to provide accessible, high-quality educational resources, programs, and services that increase awareness and understanding of the clinical research process. We recognize and appreciate the gift of participation in clinical trials and strive to enhance the participation experience for patients and their families. Lastly, we promote engagement and partnership between clinical research professionals, patients, and the public.

SPONSORSHIP PROGRAM

CISCRP has created a consortium program for our Journey to Better Health—AWARE for All community events to give organizations the opportunity to support a grassroots clinical research literacy and informational campaign. With this support, our educational program enables our organization to produce and implement:

7 Large Events Across the U.S.

15-20 Local Health Fairs

These events include established partnerships with select, recognizable, and reputable organizations that have extensive experience engaging with targeted communities and delivering health education programs. CISCRP serves as the preferred and exclusive provider of clinical research educational programming at these events.
